FULL STRENGTH OF ADMINISTRATION MASSED

NOMINATION OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL BEFORE THE SENATE

EXPULSION OF 4 LA FOLLETTE SENATORS FROM PARTY RANKS

A FEW ABSENTEES WOULD PUT ADMINISTRATION IN EMBARRASSING POSITION

(By United Press)
Washington, March 9.—The full strength of the administration was rallied today to repel senate insurrections against the confirmation of Charles Beecher Warren as attorney-general and against expulsion of the four LaFollette republican senators from party ranks.

Republican senators who have planned to leave Washington early this week on various personal affairs have been asked to cancel their arrangements and remain to add their votes to the administration forces in the senate.

If it can keep its full strength the party can put down the opposition; adopt a resolution ousting Senators LaFollette, Brookhart, Ladd and Frazier and confirm the nomination of Warren. A few absentees, however, would put the organization in an embarrassing position.

Both these issues are expected to be decided finally this week.

ROAD BOND PLAN BELIEVED KILLED BY HOUSE ACTION

PASSES BILL FOR REDEMPTION OF COUNTY ISSUES FROM HIGHWAY FUNDS

PROHIBITS $33,000,000 IN REIMBURSEMENT CERTIFICATES

St. Paul, March 9.—County road bonds must be redeemed out of state highway department funds.

This form of financing, required in a bill passed Saturday by the state house of representatives, definitely prohibits the issuance of state reimbursement bonds.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. R. A. Wilkinson, Lake Elmo.

Its adoption by the house is expected to bring to an end in the near future the fight of friends of C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, to obtain authority for issuance of $33,000,000 in state bonds over a period of 10 years to retire the county road issues when due.

Under the bill passed the county bonds will be retired on moneys at present obtained through issuance of automobile licenses and collection of fees.

If the legislature adopts a gasoline tax measure such moneys, too, will go into the highway general funds and be available for bond redemption purposes.

Proponents of the bond issue have declared that unless that system is adopted the highway department will find itself in a position where it is spending part of its money on road maintenance and the rest on bond redemption, with none left for new road construction.

This is denied by proponents of the measure adopted, who insist that the highway department how to the program originally laid down for it, and limit its expenditures instead of taking any action which might increase the state tax rates.

It is expected the bill will go to the senate at an early date.

The bills on the firemen's pensions are designed to give the firemen's relief association financial aid so they can pay pensions. Some of the associations are behind in their payments. Bismarck, N. D., March 9.—Repeal of the statute prohibiting sale of cigarettes and refusal by the senate, the only one of the two houses to take up the matter, to endorse the child labor amendment to the federal constitution were probably the accomplishments of greatest general interest by the 1925 session of the North Dakota legislature which adjourned last night.

No radical action had been expected when the legislature convened as each house was able to check the other, the lower being controlled by the Nonpartisans and the upper by the anti-nonpartisans or independents.

Action of the legislature in changing the method of managing the state-owned mill and elevator at Grand Forks, giving the governor sole responsibility for the success of the same and defeat of the administration measure for a state efficiency expert were of paramount interest.

RAIL MERGER NOT EXPECTED IN 1925

N. P. PRESIDENT SAYS SESSION OF CONGRESS TOO SHORT FOR BILLS

St. Paul, March 9.—Consolidation of northwest railroads is not probable this year, in the opinion of Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific.

Mr. Donnelly returned this morning from New York, where he attended a directors' meeting. He had just completed an inspection trip to the Pacific northwest.

Mr. Donnelly predicted that railroad business in 1925 will be superior to that of last year.

"The land is in good shape, farmers are confident and everyone seems hopeful," he said. "While car loadings for February have fallen slightly compared with last year, indications point to a general upturn."

In speaking of proposed consolidations Mr. Donnelly said that the last session of congress was too short to pay much attention to railroad activities. While some bills were given careful consideration definite action on them was delayed, he said.

What eventually will happen when the mergers are started he could not say. Mr. Donnelly attended the directors' meeting in the absence of Howard Elliott, chairman, who is on his vacation.

WHITNEY FOUND NOT GUILTY IN JAMISON CASE

COURT FINDS CASS COUNTY MAN DID NOT VIOLATE CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT

WHITNEY FOUND TO HAVE HAD NO CONNECTION WITH ARTICLES IN RIP-SAW

(Bemidji Daily Pioneer)
Findings of the court and order for judgment in favor of Probate Judge Frank N. Whitney of Walker were filed Friday by Judge William Watts of Crookston, dismissing the court proceedings brought by Judge Bert Jamison of Walker against Probate Judge Whitney, which case was tried at Walker last December 30 before Judge William Watts, who took the case under advisement and returned his decision Friday.

The case caused considerable interest throughout Northern Minnesota since both judges were well known, not only in Cass county but throughout this entire section.

Judge Jamison had been judge of probate court of Cass county for 14 years continuously. Last November Frank N. Whitney received a large majority of the votes and was declared elected to that office to succeed Jamison.

A contest was started by Judge Jamison on the grounds that Whitney had violated the Corrupt Practices act of the state of Minnesota in conducting his campaign. The principal charge was that Whitney was responsible for a certain article published in the Duluth Rip-Saw, attacking Judge Jamison.

In its decision filed Friday, the court finds that Judge Whitney had no connection whatever with the Rip-Saw articles and was not guilty of any violation of the Corrupt Practices act.

Judge Whitney qualified as judge of probate court of Cass county on Monday, March 5, and has been acting as such during the contest.

County Attorney Graham M. Torrance of Bemidji and Attorney Daniel DeLury of Walker represented Judge Whitney in the contest and Attorneys M. E. and C. A. Ryan of Brainerd represented Judge Jamison.

John L. Morrison of Duluth, publisher of the Duluth Rip-Saw, against whom Jamison brought action following publication of the article or articles in question and whose case was continued over by agreement, was one of the principal witnesses for Jamison.

MITCHELL'S PLAN IS ADVOCATED BY CONG. O'SULLIVAN

URGES A DEFENSE POLICY IN WHICH AIRCRAFT SHALL PLAY THE LEADING PART

CHANGED CONDITIONS IN WARFARE REQUIRED NEW ARMS IN SERVICE

(By United Press)
Washington, March 9.—Development of a national defense air policy similar to the one advocated by Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service, was recommended today by Congressman O'Sullivan, democrat of Connecticut who represented the House air craft committee at the anti-aircraft demonstration last week at Fortress Monroe, Virginia, in an official report. O'Sullivan urged the formation of a military policy in which "aircraft shall play the most important part" and said the test demonstrated showed that Mitchell was correct in his statement that the only defense against enemy airplanes is a "substantial air force." The demonstration, as O'Sullivan reported, is conclusive in that:

First, that warfare today is a radically different thing from the series of heroically individual contests which made possible this republic, and

Secondly, it devolves upon our military experts to meet this changed condition.

Targets on a straight line at practically a known altitude for a land battery to shoot at and speed by the most cumbersome plane available were demonstrated.

O'Sullivan said it was apparent that "enemy planes" would have nothing to fear from that or any other battery. "I am not concerned," O'Sullivan said, "with jealousies which occurred between one army corp and another. Let that be settled in a game of quills."

"Our only defense is an efficient fleet of airplanes to meet possible enemy attacks," he said. "To General Mitchell is due all the credit for arousing the public mind to a knowledge of the true state of our affairs. In the recent demonstration to prove the truth of his allegations his position will not be challenged except, perhaps, by those in high military circles who still cling to the well-worn old plan of waging warfare."

O'Sullivan urged the formation of a military policy in which "aircraft shall play the most important part" and said the test demonstrated showed that Mitchell was correct in his statement that the only defense against enemy airplanes is a "substantial air force." The demonstration, as O'Sullivan reported, is conclusive in that:

First, that warfare today is a radically different thing from the series of heroically individual contests which made possible this republic, and

Secondly, it devolves upon our military experts to meet this changed condition.

Targets on a straight line at practically a known altitude for a land battery to shoot at and speed by the most cumbersome plane available were demonstrated.

O'Sullivan said it was apparent that "enemy planes" would have nothing to fear from that or any other battery. "I am not concerned," O'Sullivan said, "with jealousies which occurred between one army corps and another. Let that be settled in a game of quoits."

"Our only defense is an efficient fleet of airplanes to meet possible enemy attacks," he said. "To General Mitchell is due all the credit for arousing the public mind to a knowledge of the true state of our affairs. In the recent demonstration to prove the truth of his allegations his position will not be challenged except, perhaps, by those in high military circles who still cling to the well-worn old plan of waging warfare."

County Commissioners on Record as Favoring Paving N. 4th St.,
Laurel to Kingwood

APPEAL TO CITY COUNCIL

County Board Appropriates $900 to Aid County Fair at Pequot

The county commissioners at their meeting on Saturday, went on record as approving the paving of Fourth street between Laurel and Kingwood streets, and Commissioner A. G. Anderson was delegated to appear before the city council at its next regular meeting, to urge that this paving be authorized, together with certain sidewalk between Laurel and Front streets.

At a previous meeting of the commissioners, representatives of the Pequot County Fair association appeared and asked that the board make an appropriation toward this fair as has been the custom in the past. The commissioners took no action at that time, but at Saturday's meeting voted to appropriate $900 for the fair this year.

The lakeshore plat of "Birch Lawn" on section 2 in Bay Lake township, and situated near Bay Lake, was approved by the commissioners.

Sheriff Fred J. Reid asked to have the extra room on the second floor of the county jail furnished to give more cell room. Commissioners A. G. Anderson and Frank Lowrey were appointed to act with the sheriff and make recommendations to the board as to what is needed.

Three Roads Established

The establishment of three roads was ordered by the board. The first is an extension of state road No. 3 from the store at Cross Lake two miles in a northeasterly direction to take the place of the narrow winding sand road now in use.

The second is the establishment of the so-called "Lum Park road," to skirt the south and east sides of this park as it has been enlarged, to conform with the requirements of the gift of the added land made by Leon E. Lum to the city recently. This road will be about one-half mile in length, a quarter of a mile on the south and the same distance on the east side of the park.

The third is the establishment of a road beginning at the Senn corner on state road No. 3 and running west about three-quarters of a mile. The work on this project is to be done by the county forces and county road machinery, the first two projects will be opened to bids, the work probably to be let at the May meeting of the board.

The greater portion of the commissioners meeting was given over to the consideration of applications for abatement of taxes and an unusually large list of bills.

TO LECTURE ABOUT AMERICAN IDEALS

Rev. M. A. Daly will give a course of lectures at Gardner hall this week, beginning tonight. These lectures will be highly interesting as well as instructive as they are to be given by a man of wide and varied experience. Rev. Daly started life as a newsboy orphan on the streets of New York city and since that time has traveled extensively not only throughout the United States but overseas as well. He served in both the U. S. navy and the merchant marine. For the last twenty-two years he has been acting as a lumberjack "sky pilot," except for the time he put in as a government investigator.

The title of the lecture tonight will be "What Have We Done in the Past Fifty Years?" It will undoubtedly be well worth hearing. These lectures are being given under the auspices of the American Club of Minnesota.

Lincoln P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Lincoln school will hold its meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The following program will be given:

Song—Bernice Samuelson.
Pianologue—Helene Marie Stadtbauer.

Dialogue—Miss Christenson's pupils.
Song—Hazel Cooper and Allene Hagberg.

Energy is true gasoline, not doped. Next in grade to the highest test aviation gasoline.

KAPPA DELPHIANS

Met Saturday Afternoon at the Home of Miss Mary
Scott
(Contributed)

The Kappa Delphian chapter met with Miss Mary Scott Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Lammon, as leader, made us long for that condition so aptly expressed in the following editorial from the Sign of the Delta. "The Sign feels that this would be an ideal time to spend on a remote farm, or perhaps in a lighthouse, or even to experience a long drawn-out convalescence from some illness that did not leave one's mind as weary as the body—if there are any such. A broken leg would serve, perhaps. We cover time unscented by rounds of daily duties to read dozens of new volumes, and hundreds of old ones."

Delphian studies are so full of suggestion, that our practical far-seeing president refrained from bringing the last "civic lecture" before the group at the close of their discussion of the rise of the Athenian state as she did not wish to mar the enthusiasm aroused by the animated discussion.

Too much to do to read? "Whither man desireth to go, thither his feet will carry him." There are a dozen or more members of the local chapter that are demonstrating their poise or self-control or whatever it is that perfects their attendance at the chapter meetings; and at the same time they are fulfilling the Delphian motto, "To have is to share, when we cease to share we cease to have."

Rev. Valiant Gives the Important
Period Attained in Spiritual Life

PREACHES TO TWO AUDIENCES

First Baptist Church and Mill Mission Hear Well Known
Evangelist

Large audiences greeted Rev. Valiant yesterday at the First Baptist church and the Mill Mission in connection with the Christian Life Mission being conducted under the auspices of the Baptist churches of Brainerd.

In his sermon last night on "The Psychological Moment of the Spiritual Life," Mr. Valiant said: "The meanest citizen this country has is the man who selfishly and stubbornly withholds from his wife and children the privilege of following the dictates of their own conscience in things religious. The husband or father who does that is not only godless, but he is not a true American. Our country is founded on the principle of religious liberty and every man, woman and child has the right to enjoy it. If he had my wife to deal with," said the preacher, "he would be flipping his own pancakes in about two seconds and God and Christendom would stand by laughing at him. That kind of a man has no right leading any girl to the marriage altar."

"Years ago we read in the good book that the parents brought their children to Jesus for blessing. Today, if children are brought to Jesus and the church, we have to kick the parents out of the way. It is not any wonder that men and women who know the condition of young people and children in this land place the most of the blame on the parents. That's where it belongs."

"The psychological moment of spiritual life," according to Mr. Valiant, "is that moment, when the child, possessing the power of choice, stands face to face with Jesus and Calvary and decides what his attitude is going to be toward the world's Saviour. If a child is allowed to slip by that point he goes downward and with the passing of every day it becomes harder for him to come back to it, which he must, if he is ever going to strike the path upward. That is what Jesus meant when he said: 'Unless ye become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter the kingdom of heaven.'"

County Commissioners on Record as Favoring Paving N. 4th St., Laurel to Kingwood

APPEAL TO CITY COUNCIL

County Board Appropriates $900 to Aid County Fair at Pequot

The county commissioners at their meeting on Saturday, went on record as approving the paving of Fourth street between Laurel and Kingwood streets, and Commissioner A. G. Anderson was delegated to appear before the city council at its next regular meeting, to urge that this paving be authorized, together with certain sidewalk between Laurel and Front streets.

At a previous meeting of the commissioners, representatives of the Pequot County Fair association appeared and asked that the board make an appropriation toward this fair as has been the custom in the past. The commissioners took no action at that time, but at Saturday's meeting voted to appropriate $900 for the fair this year.

The lakeshore plat of "Birch Lawn" on section 2 in Bay Lake township, and situated near Bay Lake, was approved by the commissioners.

Sheriff Fred J. Reid asked to have the extra room on the second floor of the county jail furnished to give more cell room. Commissioners A. G. Anderson and Frank Lowey were appointed to act with the sheriff and make recommendations to the board as to what is needed.

Three Roads Established

The establishment of three roads was ordered by the board. The first is an extension of state road No. 3 from the store at Cross Lake two miles in a northeasterly direction to take the place of the narrow winding sand road now in use.

The second is the establishment of the so-called "Lum Park road," to skirt the south and east sides of this park as it has been enlarged, to conform with the requirements of the gift of the added land made by Leon E. Lum to the city recently. This road will be about one-half mile in length, a quarter of a mile on the south and the same distance on the east side of the park.

The third is the establishment of a road beginning at the Senn corner on state road No. 3 and running west about three-quarters of a mile. The work on this project is to be done by the county forces and county road machinery, the first two projects will be opened to bids, the work probably to be let at the May meeting of the board.

The greater portion of the commissioners meeting was given over to the consideration of applications for abatement of taxes and an unusually large list of bills.

TO LECTURE ABOUT AMERICAN IDEALS

Rev. M. A. Daly will give a course of lectures at Gardner hall this week, beginning tonight. These lectures will be highly interesting as well as instructive as they are to be given by a man of wide and varied experience. Rev. Daly started life as a newsboy orphan on the streets of New York city and since that time has traveled extensively not only throughout the United States but overseas as well. He served in both the U. S. navy and the merchant marine. For the last twenty-two years he has been acting as a lumberjack "sky pilot," except for the time he put in as a government investigator.

The title of the lecture tonight will be "What Have We Done in the Past Fifty Years?" It will undoubtedly be well worth hearing. These lectures are being given under the auspices of the American Club of Minnesota.

Lincoln P.-T.-A.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Lincoln school will hold its meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The following program will be given:

Planologue—Helene Marie Stadler.

Dialogue—Miss Christenson's pupils.

Song—Hazel Cooper and Allene Hagberg.

KAPPA DELPHIANS

Met Saturday Afternoon at the Home of Miss Mary Scott

(Contributed)

The Kappa Delphian chapter met with Miss Mary Scott Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Lammon, as leader, made us long for that condition so aptly expressed in the following editorial from the Sign of the Delta, "The Sign feels that this would be an ideal time to spend on a remote farm, or perhaps in a lighthouse, or even to experience a long drawn out convalescence from some illness that did not leave one's mind as weary as the body—if there are any such. A broken leg would serve, perhaps. We cover time unscathed by rounds of daily duties to read dozens of new volumes, and hundreds of old ones."

Delphian studies are so full of suggestion that our practical far-seeing president refrained from bringing the last "civic lecture" before the group at the close of their discussion of the rise of the Athenian state as she did not wish to mar the enthusiasm aroused by the animated discussion.

Too much to do to read? "Whither man desireth to go, thither his feet will carry him." There are a dozen or more members of the local chapter that are demonstrating their poise or self-control or whatever it is that perfects their attendance at the chapter meetings; and at the same time they are fulfilling the Delphian motto, "To have is to share, when we cease to share we cease to have."

Mrs. S. S. Newman's home in the Anna block will be open to the Delphian chapter March 21, with Mrs. A. W. Moulster as leader. The Peloponnesian war is the subject for this fortnight study.

In his sermon last night on "The Psychological Moment of the Spiritual Life," Mr. Valiant said:

"The meanest citizen this country has is the man who selfishly and stubbornly withholds from his wife and children the privilege of following the dictates of their own conscience in things religious. The husband or father who does that is not only godless, but he is not a true American. Our country is founded on the principle of religious liberty and every man, woman and child has the right to enjoy it. If he had my wife to deal with," said the preacher, "he would be flipping his own pancakes in about two seconds and God and Christendom would stand by laughing at him. That kind of a man has no right leading any girl to the marriage altar."

"The psychological moment of spiritual life," according to Mr. Valiant, "is that moment, when the child, possessing the power of choice, stands face to face with Jesus and Calvary and decides what his attitude is going to be toward the world's Saviour. If a child is allowed to slip by that point he goes downward and with the passing of every day it becomes harder for him to come back to it, which he must, if he is ever going to strike the path upward. That is what Jesus meant when he said: 'Unless ye become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter the kingdom of heaven.'"

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH US, ANYHOW?

(Fergus Falls Tribune)

IN olden days, a man who was "hard up" had little or no seat in his pantaloons; his hair stuck out through his hat; his cowhide boots showed patches and holes; he chewed slippery elm because he could not afford to buy tobacco; his children went barefoot and his wife's best hat was a sunbonnet.

Today the man who is "hard up" is still able to wear whole clothes; to renew his headgear; to have shoes with solid soles; he smokes cigarettes at the least, very likely cigars; his children look as well clad—certainly as warmly—as those of anybody, and if his wife's best hat is two years old nobody but herself and the milliner know it.

In short, the gearing and trappings and comforts and luxuries and happiness of life have increased tremendously. The wonder is that we are not harder up than we are, so much is spent for the commonplaces of existence.

The country is not getting poorer; it is getting richer every day. Those who decry costs and expenses are almost invariably thinking of the other fellow's costs and expenses; most of the decryers never think of "cutting down" their own. They've got money enough; why should they "cut down"? Why, indeed? And why should it be regarded as evil if their understudies and financial inferiors decline to cut down, each in his own particular zone or class?

Every generation in progressive and developing countries, adopts a higher scale of comfort and expenditure than the one before. The new is at first extravagance; presently, it becomes the inevitable price of living. The average costs of the present day will not decrease. It is enough to hope and expect and plan that they shall not increase. Anybody who uses this piece of philosophy as a pretext for launching into additional expenditures is not a philosopher, but a spendthrift, and would have found some other pretext if not this one.

THEY FLOCK TO HEAR SNODGRASS

HARRY SNODGRASS, "king of the ivories," is just as popular on the vaudeville stage as he was when broadcasting from his prison home, "Jefferson City, Missouri, Station WOS."

Ben Dunham, of the Brainerd Electric company, heard Snodgrass at the Hennepin-Orpheum, Minneapolis, yesterday. The scene opens with a broadcasting station reproduced and with Harry's faithful announcer, who assisted him to gain fame, at his elbow. Snodgrass played his popular "3 O'clock in the Morning" composition.

It has been said that Jefferson City, during the heyday of the popularity of Snodgrass, had to put on ten telegraph operators to handle the congratulations which poured over the wires every time the "king of the ivories" played. The Snodgrass vaudeville engagement is of interest, for it shows that substantial popularity can be achieved through the radio and "cashed in" on a vaudeville circuit.

OPEN WATER DUCK BILL

WE are against an open water duck bill. Under this bill hunters would be permitted to erect blinds in any open water and would be permitted to shoot from these blinds. The present law prohibits shooting from any open water, and requires all blinds to be situated on land points.

If the bill passes, it would prove a nuisance to cottagers at lakes, who would have hunters shooting almost from their front porches. There would be little peace and security too left in the hunting season.

Ducks would be driven to the center of lakes. Their feeding grounds off shore would be occupied by hunters in "pill boxes" ready to shoot them down.

Whoever introduced that duck bill must be intent on getting ducks and having no regard for any decent preservation of the birds.

WILD DUCKS WINTERING HERE

WILD ducks wintering in Crow Wing county is not unusual, says the Little Falls Transcript, commenting on the colony of eight mallards at the Gull Lake dam, as mentioned in the Brainerd Dispatch.

Ducks, but not of the mallard family, wintering in Minnesota is not unusual wherever there is open water, says the Transcript. For several years, to our personal knowledge, flocks of ducks have wintered in Crow Wing county in the vicinity of Outing. Three years ago about 50 ducks spent the winter at the foot of Crooked lake, about four miles south of the Cass county line.

Chronicle Tells of Washington as Fireman

George Washington was once a fireman, says the Detroit News. At least he presented the volunteer company of Alexandria, Va., with a fire engine. M. B. Levick, writing in St. Nicholas, describes this incident in the life of the father of our country as follows:

"Washington presented the engine in 1775 to the Friendship fire company. That was almost a hundred years before there were paid firemen. In those days the fire fighting was done by volunteers, who belonged to different companies, just as it is today in small towns. When a fire was discovered a big bell was rung and at the signal the members of the volunteer company came running from wherever they were; they hauled out the engine and dragged it, with a score of men tugging at a long rope, to the fire, and then fell to work for all they were worth, making the pump handles go up and down like a seesaw. The Friendship fire company was organized on August 13, 1774, the year before Washington bought the engine for it, and is still in existence, although now Alexandria has a paid fire department. The engine is there yet, and on special occasions it is brought out by the Friendship Veterans' Fire association."

SAID BY WASHINGTON

A good moral character is the first essential in a man.

I feel everything that hurts the sensibility of a gentleman.

I hope, some day, we shall become a storehouse and granary for the world.

We do not wish to be the only people to taste the sweets of an equal and good government.

World to God the harmony of nations were an object that lay nearest to the hearts of sovereigns!

I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that "honesty is the best policy."

It appears to me that little more than common sense and common honesty would be necessary to make us a great and happy nation.

I am resolved that no misrepresentations, falsehoods, or calumny shall make me swerve from what I conceive to be the strict line of duty.

The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government.

Old Pohick Church

Not far from Alexandria, Va., is a church of which one hears less than of some of the other churches in which the first President worshipped. This is the old Pohick church, of which it is claimed, Washington was the designer. He also was a vestryman of this church, and it is known that he had a great and peculiar affection for it. It is a church having much to do with the spiritual life of Washington.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Green Mountain Boys and "Old Ti"

Although an accident of geography placed Ticonderoga upon the soil of New York, Vermont, through the deeds of her "Green Mountain Boys" has an equal claim with her neighbor upon its stirring history. There, John Stark, a colonial captain fighting with the British against the French, showed the military qualities which later made him the hero of Bennington. There, too, Robert Rogers from "the New Hampshire Grants" (the land which later became Vermont) had many escape with his Rangers.

But it was at the outbreak of the Revolution that Vermont came in with her strongest claim to Ticonderoga as a part of her history. There at the dawn of May 10, 1775, Ethan Allen and his "Green Mountain Boys" won their deathless fame when they took possession of the old French fort "in the name of Jehovah and the Continental Congress." But if Ticonderoga was the scene of a Vermont triumph, it must also be recorded that it came very near being the scene of a great disgrace for her. For it was within the walls of the fort that the traitorous negotiations between the British and some of her leaders, dissatisfied because of unawarded honors, were carried on and they, and through them, Vermont, narrowly escaped the shame which sullied the fame of Conway and Charles Lee, and engulfed Benedict Arnold.

The complete history of Ticonderoga would fill volumes. It begins away back in 1690 with Samuel Champlain, who fought the Iroquois on a narrow cape in Lake Champlain, called Cheondaraga or Ticonderoga, "between two lakes," and for the next 150 years this spot was the scene of battles. In 1755 the French began building a fort on this promontory, and named it Fort Vaudreuil, in honor of the governor of Canada. It was later called Fort Carillon, but it is best known as Fort Ticonderoga, or "Old Ti."

After the Revolution Ticonderoga fell into decay, but through the patriotic efforts of the Pell family, which, in 1818, obtained title to the land upon which the fort stood, it has been partly restored and today it is visited by thousands as one of our most interesting historic shrines.

AMORTIZATION CLAIMS

(By United Press)
Washington, March 9.—The United States Field corporation and the Aluminum Company of America were allowed war-time amortization claims running into unestimated millions to which they were not justly entitled, L. C. Manson, special counsel for the investigation committee, said today in testimony during a hearing held today.

Manson said the companies had made claim on the property claimed by the companies to be useless which were restored after the claims were allowed.

In the case of the United States Field corporation, Manson said the items were too numerous to mention.

He estimated "readily discernible" overallowances to the Field corporation at $27,900,000 and to the Aluminum company at $6,800,000.

Motor Miles for all Mankind

Inspiring the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is one comprehensive conviction: that the great gift of science to man—that of motor transportation—should be brought within the reach of all.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is doing its part to bring this condition about by making enough gasoline to meet the demands; selling it at a low price, and distributing it so widely and so thoroughly that every one may command it at will.

To render a service so essential to the public welfare, an organization must have foresight, initiative, size and power.

To reduce the cost of refining; to standardize the quality of gasoline, and to conquer the difficulties of thorough distribution, requires vast resources, facilities and experience.

The ideal of service to all, has been the stimulus and incentive behind every expansion of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

In building great steel tanks to hold oil in safety and without waste; in organizing tank wagon fleets, or building outpost service stations; in devising more economical refinery methods—the determination to serve has inspired the effort that overcame difficulties and made Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products, household words.

This Company has never been baffled by the magnitude or difficulty of any task. It never has shirked toil nor the burden of initiative! It has blazed the trail, and the fruit of its daring is—gasoline for all, at prices all can afford to pay.

The efforts of this Company have been abundantly rewarded. It is axiomatic that genuine service, honestly rendered, always receives its just reward. But the profits won are only part of the pay, for this organization sincerely rejoices in the thought that through its exertions, motor miles for business or pleasure, have been increased, bringing easier living, better health and wider opportunities to millions of families.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH US, ANYHOW?

(Fergus Falls Tribune)

In olden days, a man who was "hard up" had little or no seat in his pantaloons; his hair stuck out through his hat; his cowhide boots showed patches and holes; he chewed slippery elm because he could not afford to buy tobacco; his children went barefoot and his wife's best hat was a sunbonnet.

Today the man who is "hard up" is still able to wear whole clothes; to renew his headgear; to have shoes with solid soles; he smokes cigarettes at the least, very likely cigars; his children look as well clad—certainly as warmly—as those of anybody, and if his wife's best hat is two years old nobody but herself and the milliner know it.

In short, the gearing and trappings and comforts and luxuries and happiness of life have increased tremendously. The wonder is that we are not harder up than we are, so much is spent for the commonplaces of existence.

The country is not getting poorer; it is getting richer every day. Those who decry costs and expenses are almost invariably thinking of the other fellow's costs and expenses; most of the decryers never think of "cutting down" their own. They've got money enough; why should they "cut down"? Why, indeed? And why should it be regarded as evil if their understudies and financial inferiors decline to cut down, each in his own particular zone or class?

Every generation in progressive and developing countries, adopts a higher scale of comfort and expenditure than the one before. MAY SUSPEND DEPUTY WARDENS

Reported State Game and Fish Commission is Running Short of Funds

PROTEST MEETINGS PLANNED

Izaak Walton League to Meet Wednesday After Chamber of Commerce Meeting

At the meeting of the directors of the Brainerd chapter of the Izaak Walton League on Saturday evening, it was decided to call a meeting of the league for Wednesday evening, March 11th, immediately following the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

A matter of the utmost importance is to be considered at this meeting of the league, and it is hoped that every member will make a special effort to be present. It has been reported that the State Game and Fish Commission is asking that the deputy game wardens be placed on the suspended list without pay for the next two or three months, or until about June 1st.

The league does not favor such action, and has invited the Crow Wing Game Protective Association to participate in Wednesday's meeting, and it is hoped that something may be done to avert the Commission's proposal.

Old English Custom

A maiden assize once meant an assize where no criminal was left for execution. Upon such an occasion, the judge was entitled to a pair of white gloves. A modern session of the English court of assize at which no prisoner is tried is known as a maiden assize, and it is customary for the sheriff of the county to present the judge with a pair of white gloves as a symbol of the innocent character of his administration.

Uses for Jetties

A jetty is an embankment which extends into a lake or ocean for the purpose of controlling the sand drift that would otherwise shoal up a channel or encroach on the shore. Jetties are usually built of large broken stone, or timberwork; concrete blocks, etc., can be used.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

He Cut the Cross From the British Flag

In 1636 the colonists of Massachusetts bay were in a state of great perturbation. The master of a British ship which had sailed into Boston harbor had demanded to know why no flag was flying over the little palisaded fort on Castle Island to render him a salute and he was saluted in turn. That was an embarrassing question for a short time before one Richard Davenport, acting upon the orders of stern old John Endicott, had cut the cross out of the British flag because to that dour Puritan leader it symbolized the ancient Catholic religion of the mother country. That was one reason why no flag flew over Castle Island, and it took considerable explaining to avoid unpleasant results.

Thus early in Massachusetts history, Castle Island, this little scrap of land less than a dozen acres in extent, became an important spot. The next incident in its history came in 1680, when the hatred of the colonists for their governor, Sir Edmund Andros, resulted in a revolt and one of the first places they seized was this fort.

In 1705 Colonel Rorer, a famous English engineer, was employed to repair the fort, whose palisades had fallen into sad disrepair. He demolished all of the old works and erected new ones of timbers and earth, and this new fortification, the most formidable that had yet graced Castle Island, was named Castle William, or Fort William, in honor of the king.

During the French wars, Fort William was one of the most important defenses along the Atlantic coast, and at the close of these wars it had a total of 120 guns mounted on its walls. It was strongly garrisoned by the British at the outbreak of the Revolution as an aid in holding the rebellious colonists in subjection, but when Lord Howe evacuated Boston in 1776 the British flag was lowered over Fort William, never to be raised again.

In 1798 Massachusetts ceded Fort William to the federal government. The next year when President John Adams visited Boston he suggested that Fort Independence would be a more appropriate name for this defender of American liberties, and his suggestion was adopted. In 1832 Fort Independence was enlarged into a casemated, pentagonal, bastioned fortification, and for the first time in nearly 200 years Boston had a defender worthy of the name of "Fort."

"He Who Finds Gold Dies in the Almshouse"

He was a Swiss adventurer, born in Germany, schooled in the French army and a member of a band of trappers who crossed the western plains to California in 1838. There the Spanish governor Juan Alvarado, made him a general and presented him with 11 square leagues of land upon which he built, at the junction of the American river and the Sacramento, a fort which he named Fort New Helvetia.

With an army of 50 men as a garrison, he dwelt here in feudal state, ruling over thousands of Indians who cultivated his broad acres of wheat, tended his vineyards or cared for his herds of 12,000 cattle, 10,000 sheep and 2,000 horses and mules. Governor Micheltorenn, Alvarado's successor, presented him with an additional 11 square leagues of land and so Gen. John A. Sutter was truly a "monarch of all he surveyed."

Then on January 24, 1848, Capt. James W. Marshall, employed by Sutter to build a sawmill at Coloma upon the American river, found in the sands some shining particles. He told Sutter about it and although they tried to keep secret the discovery of gold, the news leaked out. One day

Izaak Walton League to Meet Wednesday After Chamber of Commerce Meeting

At the meeting of the directors of the Brainerd chapter of the Izaak Walton League on Saturday evening, it was decided to call a meeting of the league for Wednesday evening, March 11th, immediately following the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

A matter of the utmost importance is to be considered at this meeting of the league, and it is hoped that every member will make a special effort to be present. It has been reported that the State Game and Fish Commission is asking that the deputy game wardens be placed on the suspended list without pay for the next two or three months, or until about June 1st.

The league does not favor such action, and has invited the Crow Wing Game Protective Association to participate in Wednesday's meeting, and it is hoped that something may be done to avert the Commission's proposal.

Old English Custom

A maiden assize once meant an assize where no criminal was left for execution. Upon such an occasion, the judge was entitled to a pair of white gloves. A modern session of the English court of assize at which no prisoner is tried is known as a maiden assize, and it is customary for the sheriff of the county to present the judge with a pair of white gloves as a symbol of the innocent character of his administration.

Uses for Jetties

A jetty is an embankment which extends into a lake or ocean for the purpose of controlling the sand drift that would otherwise shoal up a channel or encroach on the shore. Jetties are usually built of large broken stone, or timberwork; concrete blocks, etc., can be used.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

He Cut the Cross From the British Flag

In 1630 the colonists of Massachusetts Bay were in a state of great perturbation. The master of a British ship which had sailed into Boston harbor had demanded to know why no flag was flying over the little palisaded fort on Castle Island to render him a salute and be saluted in turn. That was an embarrassing question for a short time before one Richard Davenport, acting upon the orders of stern old John Endicott, had cut the cross out of the British flag because to that dour Puritan leader it symbolized the ancient Catholic religion of the mother country. That was one reason why no flag flew over Castle Island, and it took considerable explaining to avoid unpleasant results.

Thus early in Massachusetts history, Castle Island, this little scrap of land less than a dozen acres in extent, became an important spot. The next incident in its history came in 1680, when the hatred of the colonists for their governor, Sir Edmund Andros, resulted in a revolt and one of the first places they seized was this fort.

In 1705 Colonel Rorer, a famous English engineer, was employed to repair the fort, whose palisades had fallen into sad disrepair. He demolished all of the old works and erected new ones of timbers and earth, and this new fortification, the most formidable that had yet graced Castle Island, was named Castle William, or Fort William, in honor of the king.

During the French wars, Fort William was one of the most important defenses along the Atlantic coast, and at the close of these wars it had a total of 120 guns mounted on its walls. It was strongly garrisoned by the British at the outbreak of the Revolution as an aid in holding the rebellious colonists in subjection, but when Lord Howe evacuated Boston in 1776 the British flag was lowered over Fort William, never to be raised again.

In 1798 Massachusetts ceded Fort William to the federal government.

The next year when President John Adams visited Boston he suggested that Fort Independence would be a more appropriate name for this defender of American liberties, and his suggestion was adopted. In 1832 Fort Independence was enlarged into a casemated, pentagonal, bastioned fortification, and for the first time in nearly 200 years Boston had a defender worthy of the name of "fort."

WRIGLEY'S

Classic Ensemble Milady's Favorite

Winsome Outfit Proves to Be Most Satisfactory Model of Season.

Out of extremes moderation is achieved, says a fashion authority in the New York Times. So from the wildest extravagances and incongruities of Egyptian and other far distant origins have been evolved the refreshing youthful silhouettes, the slender lines and the classic ensemble. And in these the rarest fabrics, the most splendid metal and silk brocades appear in patterns inspired by great works of art, expressed in all the beautiful colors ever known. No woman could look unlovely in them.

In dress of this type are embodied classic ideals in lines, materials and harmonies of color. As a result of radical remodeling, the curvaceous one-piece frock, whether made of blue serge for morning street wear or of rainbow tinted silver tissue for evening, is a garment of dignity, beauty and importance. Its variants are countless. It is as enchanting in finely plaited white chiffon, snowy and soft, as when the same model is done in the most bizarre metal cloth splashed across with colors. When a simple, plain-colored fabric is used, the unbroken line of the chemise frock is broken into a brilliant costume, with added motifs in brilliants, feathers, fur, metal lace and other most lovely luxuries.

After the straight frock began to be monotonous the feeling for something more interesting was evident in the softening of lines, the drawing of curves, the lifting of length to create drapery and the dropping of skirts to add grace. The evolved evening gown was built in a manner to match dignity of design with quality and type of material, and nothing more charming has ever been shown by the prominent style creators.

Generally Satisfactory. "Ensemble" expresses one of the most satisfactory costumes of the season. The three-piece suit known heretofore was a clumsy affair which, being all cloth, appeared always to be too heavy or not heavy enough for late autumn street wear. When it reappeared this season it presented a gown of satin or crepe with a practical wrap of cloth and fur, the idea of ensemble being maintained by lining the coat with the stuff of the dress. It has gone so well that the model is redone in more elaborate form for evening and is designed in lighter materials for southern resort wear and early spring weather.

The fur trimming is almost universal. A frock of satin or crepe receives a richer appearance with bands of fur or even the narrowest measurement, and in some of the late models of straight silhouette a wide band of fur borders the skirt. This is used with profusion on the wrap that accompanies the frock, and one seldom sees now a coat that is without a lavish display of fur. The furs are in themselves a distinguished feature of the season.

Another type of dress that shows a marked evolution is the sport suit. There is not nowadays anything hit-or-miss or nondescript about the sport togs of persons of fashion. They have a style of their own, striking, picturesque, suitable and comfortable. The latest outfits, breeches, sweaters, kid jackets, boots and scarfs, are stunning—extremes done with masterful skill and artistry. The woven and knitted sweater-blouses, waistbands and scarfs, in the striped, plaid and zig-zag patterns, are gay, chic affairs and are the high lights in the most successful expression of costume in the entire wardrobe. The modern version of the homely old-time knit goods is present, and the attraction of the homespun and English materials that are best adapted to this sort of costume.

Dinner and Dance Frocks. The dinner gowns and dance frocks of this season are among the most artistic costumes, and match in beauty and grace the models of earlier times. With daring and assurance the leading creators of Paris have presented the most important styles in models of elaborate simplicity and grace, done in splendid fabrics, beautiful colors and detail of much interest. Unheard of combinations have been successfully achieved with the use of rich brocades, velvets, fur, metals, laces and gauzy tissues. And the proof of their value is the appreciative response of cultivated taste, for women of today are discriminating.

With a sure touch the folk crafts of old countries are used to ornament the latest achievements of the loom, and peasant-woven woolen embroideries the sheerest spun silks. That these extremes are made to meet with results wholly artistic is a tribute to the talent and skill that are given to the subject of dress and the important place it has come to have in the estimate of artists of the highest standing.

One style of dress that has needed no argument for its presentation is the "perfect" costume. Nothing has ever expressed better the subtlety and charm of the swish of silken skirts, and more beauty is suggested by the skirt of many folds than is revealed by the clinging lines of scant drapery. Designed long ago, the quaint frock with plain, tight bodice, the neck outlined with a demure bertha, a waistline unexaggerated and wide and full skirts have come back to fascinate the belle of today and to give her a conscious air of something that bears the stamp of tradition.

Every girl loves to wear this dress reminiscent of the crinoline period. While it graces every one, only an occasional woman appears in it with ease and distinction. This season some of the most prominent modistes and the most exclusive shops in New York have featured the period dress, depending upon material and color for whatever variants they have offered, and its popularity continues undiminished.

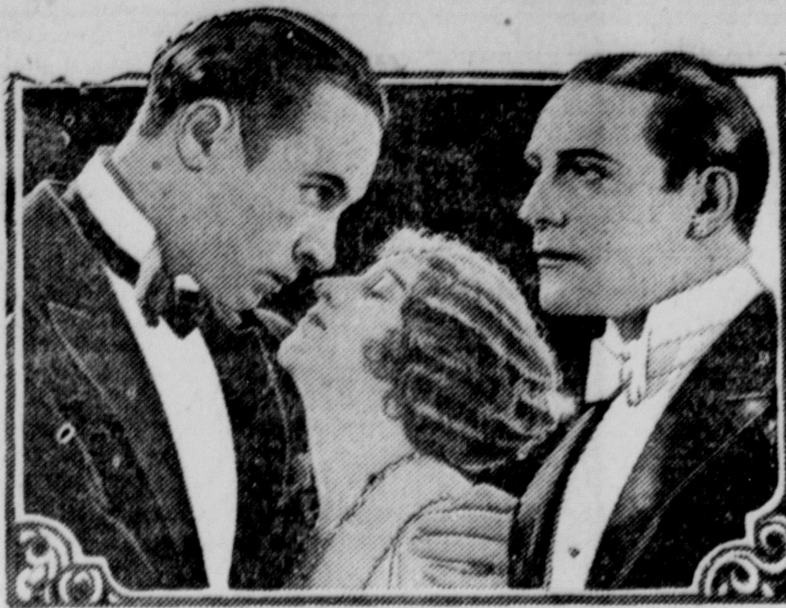

The new crisp taffetas in plain colors and the "shot" silks are entrancing in these full-petticoated frocks, and a bertha of real lace is never seen to better advantage. One model which will have an enduring picture value is made of black chiffon velvet, the collar of old rose point plumed with an old brooch of seed pearls. Long medallion earrings match brooch and necklace, and a cluster of gardenias is fastened at one side of the belt. Nothing in the styles of the present day illustrates more happily and truly the elegance and beauty of the dress of earlier times.

Elimination of Barbarities.

In just what manner the styles of today will develop, which way they will be swayed by fashion and fancy, cannot be foreseen. But that they have now a place of increasing importance in the world of art and convention is quite plain. And whatever of folly, extravagance or lack of taste or propriety appears in the present modes, we have come a long way in the elimination of some barbarities that will not likely be seen again. For now that tight stays and collars, Louis Quinze heels for walking, and skirts that sweep the pavement are no longer fashionable, they are certainly obsolete and their extreme opposites that add so much to the joy and comfort of life will endure.

The style of wearing street gloves with the cuffs turned down over the hand has resulted in special designs in the finish of the lining which adds much to the appearance of the glove. Because of this fad the cuff lining is strikingly emphasized and has become more important than the ornamentation of the outside covering. In some instances it is literally a "silver lining" of silvered kid or cloth of silver or stitching done with silver tinsel thread.

A modish glove has a cutout pattern of the kid showing a contrasting color underneath, which is particularly smart when done in black and white. Those in tan and white, brown and white and gray and white are also attractive. The patterns in needlework on the cuff lining are countless and some are exceedingly pretty.

Rod La Rocque, Julia Faye and Ricardo Cortez in Cecil B. DeMille's Production "Feet of Clay." A Paramount Picture

"Feet of Clay" DeMille Film Coming to New Park Tuesday and Wednesday

Twenty young goddesses of the sea, riding speed-churned waves on leaping surf boards, crossing the line abreast, bouncing dangerously on waves lashed to a fury by powerful motors, provide a scene which combines novelty and thrills and opens with a bang Cecil B. DeMille's latest production for Paramount.

"Feet of Clay."

Light, frothy, humorous, continuously entertaining are the opening scenes between the principals. Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edeson are featured players. The beautiful moves fast and combines drama and color. From this sequence the story proceeds into the serious part of the plot rapidly.

IN "THE MAN WHO CAME BACK"

Fox Version of "The Man Who Came Back" Makes Fine Film Featuring George O'Brien

Not many actors become stars after their first appearance. But George O'Brien, of the graceful smile, playing in the Fox picture, "The Man Who Came Back," has done this and more. The picture closes at the Lyceum tonight and it has won for O'Brien the hearty support of theatre-goers in this man's town.

Little Ben is Called Wonder of Far West

Ben Alexander's mother suddenly became renowned in the Pacific northwest as an artist in the training of children. Ben is one of the featured players in J. K. McDonald's First National production, "Frisolous Sal," now being shown at the New Park theatre. Much of it was made at Mount Ranier in Washington. Hundreds flocked to the mountain inn which lodged the company. Every scene was taken before crowds of curious spectators.

Little Ben had to submit to more head-patting and foolish questions than ever before in all his thirteen years.

Beauty and Comedy in Big Dana Picture

Beauty and comedy are the predominant features of Viola Dana's new Metro-Goldwyn picture, "The Beauty Prize," which is coming to the Lyceum Theatre Tuesday for a run of two days. The story by Nina Wilcox Putnam has for its heroine a New York manicurist, who is mistaken for a society girl when her mother takes care of a wealthy nation's home during the summer.

She enters a beauty contest, and is chosen to represent the state at the national finals. She wins and is about to accept the cash prize, when she decides she has triumphed under false pretenses, and gives the money back. In order to escape the publicity of her act, she steals away to a small town, and nearly starves. Then occurs a climax said to be the newest thing in climaxes.

Amateur Night at New Park on Thursday

The New Park will present a number of amateur acts Thursday night in conjunction with "Richard, the Lion Hearted," a continuation of "Robin Hood," all for regular prices.

Classic Ensemble Milady's Favorite

Winsome Outfit Proves to Be Most Satisfactory Model of Season.

Out of extremes moderation is achieved, says a fashion authority in the New York Times. So from the wildest extravagances and incongruities of Egyptian and other far distant origins have been evolved the refreshing youthful silhouettes, the slender lines and the classic ensemble. And in these the rarest fabrics, the most splendid metal and silk brocades appear in patterns inspired by great works of art, expressed in all the beautiful colors ever known. No woman could look unlovely in them.

In dress of this type are embodied classic ideals in lines, materials and harmonies of color. As a result of radical remodeling, the curveless one-piece frock, whether made of blue serge for morning street wear or of rainbow tinted silver tissue for evening, is a garment of dignity, beauty and importance. Its variants are countless. It is as enchanting in finely plaited white chiffon, snowy and soft, as when the same model is done in the most bizarre metal cloth splashed across with colors. When a simple, plain-colored fabric is used, the unbroken line of the chemise frock is made into a brilliant costume, with added motifs in brilliants, feathers, fur, metal lace and other most lovely luxuries.

After the straight frock began to be monotonous the feeling for something more interesting was evident in the softening of lines, the drawing of curves, the lifting of length to create drapery and the dropping of skirts to add grace. The evolved evening gown was built in a manner to match dignity of design with quality and type of material, and nothing more charming has ever been shown by the prominent style creators.

Generally Satisfactory. "Ensemble" expresses one of the most satisfactory costumes of the season. The three-piece suit known heretofore was a clumsy affair which, being all cloth, appeared always to be too heavy or not heavy enough for late autumn street wear. When it reappeared this season it presented a gown of satin or crepe with a practical wrap of cloth and fur, the idea of ensemble being maintained by lining the coat with the stuff of the dress. It has gone so well that the model is redone in more elaborate form for evening and is designed in lighter materials for southern resort wear and early spring weather.

The fur trimming is almost universal. A frock of satin or crepe receives a richer appearance with bands of fur of even the narrowest measurement, and in some of the late models of straight silhouette a wide band of fur borders the skirt. This is used with profusion on the wrap that accompanies the frock, and one seldom sees now a coat that is without a lavish display of fur. The furs are in themselves a distinguished feature of the season.

Another type of dress that shows a marked evolution is the sport suit. There is not nowadays anything hit-or-artistic costumes, and match in beauty and grace the models of earlier times. With daring and assurance the leading creators of Paris have presented the most important styles in models of elaborate simplicity and grace, done in splendid fabrics, beautiful colors and detail of much interest. Unheard of combinations have been successfully achieved with the use of rich brocades, velvets, fur, metals, laces and gauzy tissues. And the proof of their value is the appreciative response of cultivated taste, for women of today are discriminating.

With a sure touch the folk crafts of old countries are used to ornament the latest achievements of the loom, and peasant-woven woolen embroideries the sheerest spun silks. That these extremes are made to meet with results wholly artistic is a tribute to the talent and skill that are given to the subject of dress and the important place it has come to have in the estimate of artists of the highest standing.

One style of dress that has needed no argument for its presentation is the "period" costume. Nothing has ever expressed better the subtlety and charm of the swish of silken skirts, and more beauty is suggested by the skirt of many folds than is revealed by the clinging lines of scant drapery. Designed long ago, the quaint frock with plain, tight bodice, the neck outlined with a demure bertha, a waistline unexaggerated and wide and full skirts have come back to fascinate the belle of today and to give her a conscious air of something that bears the stamp of tradition.

Every girl loves to wear this dress reminiscent of the crinoline period. While it graces every one, only an occasional woman appears in it with ease and distinction. This season some of the most prominent modistes and the most exclusive shops in New York have featured the period dress, depending upon material and color for whatever variants they have offered, and its popularity continues undiminished.

The new crisp taffetas in plain colors and the "shot" silks are entrancing in these full-petticoated frocks, and a bertha of real lace is never seen to better advantage. One model which will have an enduring picture value is made of black chiffon velvet, the collar of old rose point pinned with an old brooch of seed pearls. Long medallion earrings match brooch and necklace, and a cluster of gardenias is fastened at one side of the belt. Nothing in the styles of the present day illustrates more happily and truly the elegance and beauty of the dress of earlier times.

Elimination of Barbarities.

In just what manner the styles of today will develop, which way they will be swayed by fashion and fancy, cannot be foreseen. But that they have now a place of increasing importance in the world of art and convention is quite plain. And whatever of folly, extravagance or lack of taste or propriety appears in the present modes, we have come a long way in the elimination of some barbarities that will not likely be seen again. For now that tight stays and collars, Louis Quinze heels for walking, and skirts that sweep the pavement are no longer fashionable, they are certainly obsolete and their extreme opposites that add so much to the joy and comfort of life will endure.

The style of wearing street gloves with the cuffs turned down over the hand has resulted in special designs in the finish of the lining which adds much to the appearance of the glove. Because of this the cuff lining is strikingly emphasized and has become more important than the ornamentation of the outside covering. In some instances it is literally a "silver lining" of silvered kid or cloth of silver or stitching done with silver tinsel thread.

A modish glove has a cutout pattern of the kid showing a contrasting color underneath, which is particularly smart when done in black and white. Those in tan and white, brown and white and gray and white are also attractive. The patterns in needlework on the cuff lining are countless and some are exceedingly pretty.

REVIEW OF THE CUYUNA RANGE

The year 1924 was of importance to the Cuyuna iron range, which is by far the youngest of the three Minnesota ranges. Outstanding features were the entrance of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation into the district, by purchasing an interest in the Mahanomen mine, acquisition of the Rogers-Brown Ore Co. by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. through the relationship of the Steel & Tube Co. to the former.

The Minnesota Sintering Co. completed its plant and was able to ship sinter before the close of 1924. The Evergreen mine is being stripped and 400,000 cubic yards have been removed to date. A model 261 Marion is employed here and at the present time the material being handled is "muck" which is hauled a short distance to the old Thompson pit, where it is dumped.

Manganiferous Shafts
Resumption of two of the manganiferous shafts took place during the year, recalling the war years when the Cuyuna range mines supplied manganese to U. S. industries deprived of their usual supplies by war conditions. The manganiferous shafts to resume were the Louise (Cuyuna Mille Lacs) followed shortly by the Hopkins, of Clement K. Quinn & Co.

The Huntington mine of the Whitmarsh Mining Co., is not producing this winter but merely keeping its workings pumped out. The Milford mine is operating close to capacity and expects to produce actively the coming year.

The Inland Steel Co. employs around 200 men at this time in the Armour No. 2 mine and the Ironton (old Cuyuna-Duluth). At the Quinn properties the Mahanomen is conducting stripping and the newly leased Hopkins is ready to stockpile ore. The Minnesota Sintering Co. plans to make certain additions to its sintering plant which will require some construction work already started.

Diamond Drills
Drills active on the Cuyuna range at this time number close to ten. Two drills are drilling in the old Rowe pit, three drills are at the Evergreen, one check drilling in the State pit, just east of Riverton a drill is exploring in section 7, 46-29 and near Trommald, Minn., another drill is engaged in section 5, 46-29.

General Conditions
At present plenty of men are available on the Cuyuna range, and men now employed are earning good wages. One underground mine employing 200 men is paying $6.00 per shift as an average on contract mining work. The class of labor on this range ranks high, most of the men being native born.

Mining timber is moving to the mines in large volume, as companies wish to get in the year's supply before the shipping season arrives. Skilling's Mining Review.

Lively's stock of Ford parts is complete in every detail. Open day and night. 98ct

"PLASTIGRAMS" THIRD DIMENSION

NoVetty Secured for Lyceum Theatre by Manager W. R. Hiller

STARTLING EFFECTS SECURED

Special Glasses Must be Worn so as to Make Illusion Perfect

Manager W. R. Hiller, of the Lyceum theatre, has secured a real novelty for the patrons of his house in the form of "Plastigrams" or "third dimension" motion pictures, which will be shown only on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Plastigrams, in addition to giving height and breadth, as do all motion pictures, gives depth as well, and the effect is startling. One must wear special glasses furnished by the theatre, which makes the picture stand out so realistically that the figures, automobiles, etc., seem to come within arm's length of the spectator, inevitably causing him to dodge, or in the case of a lady, to dodge and probably scream, too.

Frederic E. Ives, the inventor of the half-tone process of photoengraving, has perfected the plastigram. The idea is unique. It is well known that if a red picture is printed on white paper and viewed through a red glass, the red picture will disappear. Similarly, a blue picture will disappear when viewed through a blue glass. Plastigrams are printed with both red and blue images photographed from different angles and when projected on the screen, show both red and blue images. However, when viewed through a pair of special glasses, one with a red and one with a blue lens, the images are combined into one, and the effect of a third dimension, depth, is secured so realistically that the figures seem to leave the screen, affording much amusement for the audience.

Manager Hiller feels that he is exceptionally fortunate in securing this novelty for Brainerd theatre-goers, and promises that it will be one of the biggest surprises of the season. Plastigrams will be shown at the Lyceum in addition to the regular feature picture, and should prove a rare treat to all.

Copper in Cosmetics

Women of an earlier age who applied cosmetics to their faces not only put on "war paint," but literally buckled on armor. Copper was an essential ingredient of the cosmetics of those days. Long before copper as a metal was known crude copper was used as an ingredient of the cosmetics with which the women painted their faces.—Detroit News.

REVIEW OF THE CUYUNA RANGE

The year 1924 was of importance to the Cuyuna iron range, which is by far the youngest of the three Minnesota ranges. Outstanding features were the entrance of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation into the district, by purchasing an interest in the Mahanomen mine, acquisition of the Rogers-Brown Ore Co. by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., through the relationship of the Steel & Tube Co. to the former.

The Minnesota Sintering Co. completed its plant and was able to ship sinter before the close of 1924. The Evergreen mine is being stripped and 400,000 cubic yards have been removed to date. A model 261 Marion is employed here and at the present time the material being handled is "muck" which is hauled a short distance to the old Thompson pit, where it is dumped.

Manganiferous Shafts
Resumption of two of the manganiferous shafts took place during the year, recalling the war years when the Cuyuna range mines supplied manganese to U. S. industries deprived of their usual supplies by war conditions. The manganiferous shafts to resume were the Louise (Cuyuna Mills Lacs) followed shortly by the Hopkins, of Clement K. Quinn & Co.

The Huntington mine of the Whitmarsh Mining Co. is not producing this winter but merely keeping its workings pumped out. The Milford mine is operating close to capacity and expects to produce actively the coming year.

The Inland Steel Co. employs around 200 men at this time in the Armour No. 2 mine and the Ironton (old Cuyuna-Duluth). At the Quinn properties the Mahanomen is conducting stripping and the newly leased Hopkins is ready to stockpile ore. The Minnesota Sintering Co. plans to make certain additions to its sintering plant which will require some construction work already started.

Diamond Drills
Drills active on the Cuyuna range at this time number close to ten. Two drills are drilling in the old Rowe pit, three drills are at the Evergreen, one check drilling in the State pit, just east of Riverton a drill is exploring in section 7, 46-29 and near Trommald, Minn., another drill is engaged in section 5, 46-29.

General Conditions
At present plenty of men are available on the Cuyuna range, and men now employed are earning good wages. One underground mine employing 200 men is paying $6.00 per shift as an average on contract mining work. The class of labor on the range ranks high, most of the men being native born.

Mining timber is moving to the mines in large volume, as companies wish to get in the year's supply before the shipping season arrives. Skilling's Mining Review.

Lively's stock of Ford parts is complete in every detail. Open day and night.

"PLASTIGRAMS" THIRD DIMENSION

Novelty Secured for Lyceum Theatre by Manager W. R. Hiller

STARTLING EFFECTS SECURED

Special Glasses Must be Worn so as to Make Illusion Perfect

Manager W. R. Hiller of the Lyceum theatre, has secured a real novelty for the patrons of his house in the form of "Plastigrams" or "third dimension" motion pictures, which will be shown only on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Plastigrams, in addition to giving height and breadth, as do all motion pictures, gives depth as well, and the effect is startling. One must wear special glasses furnished by the theatre, which makes the picture stand out so realistically that the figures, automobiles, etc., seem to come within arm's length of the spectator, inevitably causing him to dodge, or in the case of a lady, to dodge and probably scream, too.

Frederic E. Ives, the inventor of the half-tone process of photoengraving, has perfected the plastigram. The idea is unique. It is well known that if a red picture is printed on white paper and viewed through a red glass, the red picture will disappear. Similarly, a blue picture will disappear when viewed through a blue glass. Plastigrams are printed with both red and blue images photographed from different angles and when projected on the screen, show both red and blue images. However, when viewed through a pair of special glasses, one with a red and one with a blue lens, the images are combined into one, and the effect of a third dimension, depth, is secured so realistically that the figures seem to leave the screen, affording much amusement for the audience.

Manager Hiller feels that he is exceptionally fortunate in securing this novelty for Brainerd theatre-goers, and promises that it will be one of the biggest surprises of the season. Plastigrams will be shown at the Lyceum in addition to the regular feature picture, and should prove a rare treat to all.

Copper in Cosmetics

Women of an earlier age who applied cosmetics to their faces not only put on "war paint," but literally buckled on armor. Copper was an essential ingredient of the cosmetics of those days. Long before copper as a metal was known crude copper was used as an ingredient of the cosmetics with which the women painted their faces.—Detroit News.

FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY

To be Held From Methodist Church. Rev. E. A. Cooke Officiating

John Bailey, residing at 624 North Broadway, passed away about three o'clock Sunday morning, following a stroke of paralysis. He had been ailing for five or six years, and had moved to Brainerd about two years ago in an effort to regain his health.

Mr. Bailey was born in Jacksonville, Tenn., July 14th, 1854. He lived at that place until 18 years of age, when he decided to go west, following the cattle business for many years in Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. He retired from active business about 12 years ago.

He was united in marriage to Miss Hattie Miller in 1902 at Shadron, Neb. One son was born to this union, Edward, who lives at home.

The family came to Brainerd about two years ago from Alden, Iowa, where they had resided for several years and have made their home here ever since.

Mr. Bailey was characterized as a kind and loving husband and father, who had many friends; a man of sterling qualities. His only surviving relatives are his wife and son. Mrs. Bailey is a sister of James Miller, a farmer living near the city.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, and 2:15 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. E. A. Cooke officiating. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

RACE ON BETWEEN FRISCH AND HORNSBY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 9.—Frankie Frisch, captain of the New York Giants, and Rogers Hornsby, star hitter of the St. Louis Cardinals, are expected to be the leading rivals for the National League's prize for the most valuable player this season.

Dazzy Vance, the star Brooklyn pitcher, won the prize last year and he will be eligible again this year, as the National League does not bar a winner from future consideration as is done in the American League. Unless he upsets the form that has prevailed in recent years, Vance will not have as good a year this year as he did in 1924.

Frisch and Hornsby were the runners up in the voting last year and there is no doubt that they are the outstanding players in the league. While everyone concedes their individual brilliance, smart baseball men dispute that they are as valuable to their teams as some other less brilliant players.

Frisch was out of the game during the most critical part of the pennant race last fall and the Giants didn't seem to miss him. McGraw has the best infield reserves in the major leagues and that perhaps accounts for it. Hornsby also was out of the game for a long while a year ago and the Cards got along almost as well without him.

BILL GRUENHAGEN SHOWS HIS HEELS

SON OF W. H. GRUENHAGEN OF BRAINERD, SPEEDY TRACK RUNNER

William (Bill) Gruenhagen, St. Paul boy, is the speediest sprinter at the University of Minnesota.

He established that honor at the two 50-yard races staged by Track Coach Sherman Finger at the University of Minnesota track Friday, with Gruenhagen, Catherwood, Rook and Schutte as the four sprinters.

In the first race Gruenhagen and Schutte were neck and neck for half of the distance, and then Gruenhagen pulled ahead. Rook was third and Catherwood fourth.

In the second race Schutte got away in the lead and held it until Gruenhagen nosed him out, with Catherwood and Rook tied. The time for the first race was 5:3, and for the second 5:3 1-5.

Saturday came the all-university track meet, in which it is expected many athletes will compete. The meet is open to all except members of the track team who have made their letters, those being barred.

Coach Finger was highly enthused over Gruenhagen's showing. It is the first time that the St. Paul sprinter has done much at the short distances, his chief difficulty being in making a quick getaway. His best distance has been the 220, but he is developing into a classy 100-yard man.

Finger hopes that Gruenhagen will be a great point winner this spring in the century and 220 dashes. He hopes that he will do the 220 in 21 3-5.—St. Paul Daily News.

PINE RIVER WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Pine River won the district championship at the tournament held at Aitkin Friday and Saturday, defeating the strong Crosby-Ironton team in the decisive battle of the contest, by a score of 15 to 10.

On next Friday and Saturday Pine River will represent this district in the regional tournament to be held Alexandria.

National Party Committees

The Democratic convention of 1848 was the first to appoint a national committee, but the committee's value was not recognized until after the Civil war.

With the Oldtimers

(By United Press)

Detroit, March 9.—Charley Bennett, who was a big league catcher back in 1887, is one of the familiar figures around the Detroit ball park. He lost both legs several years ago in an automobile accident. He is engaged in the china business and is doing well.

BALL EXPENSE MORE THAN FANS FIGURE

Clubs Pay Out Large Sums for Spheres.

"Aw, let the kid have it," is a cry frequently heard at the professional baseball parks when a ball flies out of the playing space and a scramble for it begins.

Letting the fans have the vagrant balls, however, is expensive. At first glance, the fan does not consider that each sphere costs money.

Although a baseball looks simple, the experimenter is sure to find it rather complicated after he makes the division into two equal parts.

It has undergone numerous experiments. First it had a cork center, then came the rubber core, later a combination of each, with all sorts of yarn wrapped around.

A ball must be absolutely round, be able to stand up under terrific knocks, have liveliness, and many other qualities are considered vital in the manufacture.

But to the professional player a ball is nothing. He will throw it into the bleachers at the slightest provocation or calmly foul it over the fence in batting practice.

Last season, the National league used 43,224 balls. Each retails around $2. Assuming that $2 is the retail price, the total expense would be $86,448. The clubs obtain their supplies for a figure under $2, but the outlay is considerable.

Emmet Wins Skate Race

Pitched Only No-Hit Game

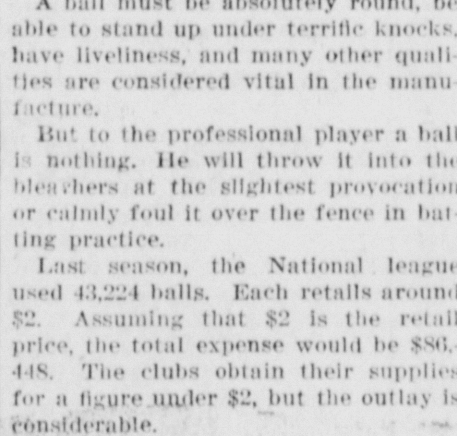

How many fans know that the only no-hit game in the American league last season was credited to Walter Johnson of the Washington American league champions and the only one-hit game in the major leagues in 1924 was also credited to the Washington pitcher? His no-hit game was pitched against St. Louis and went only seven innings.

Literary Difference

Jud Tunkins says the difference between the old drama and the new is that Shakespeare said things ordinary people couldn't think of, while the modern author says what everybody suspects, but is too polite to mention.

Paavo Nurmi Is Winner

Paavo Nurmi, the speedy Finnish runner, has been quite consistent in smashing records since his arrival in this country.

Borzoi, the Wolfhound

The original name of the Russian wolfhound was Borzoi, meaning swift, light and agile.

Two St. Louis Bells No Longer Bother

Scorers in the National league will not be bothered with the two Bells of the St. Louis Cardinals, as they have released Herman, a big right-handed pitcher, to Milwaukee. Bell gained fame last year with the Cardinals by pitching a double-header against the Boston Braves on July 19 and winning both games. The unusual part of the Bell situation is that while Herman goes to Milwaukee, Lester comes to the Cardinals from the Brewers.

Money, Not Fights, Is Big Problem for Boxer

The days of the fighting champions are about over.

Harry Greb is the only titleholder who takes on challengers and dubs regardless of the purses.

Money is the dominating influence with the present-day champions rather than fight. Once a fighter wins a championship he puts it in camphor balls and takes on nothing but no-decision affairs.

Dempsey refuses to fight indoors because there is no chance for a big gate. Benny Leonard takes much the same attitude. Instead of fighting, the two are uplifting the stage and films.

Walker refuses to fight and has no standing in New York state, one of the few places where real championship bouts can be staged.

Abe Goldstein, after dodging the bantam customers for nearly a year, dropped his title the first time out.

Denver to Build Stadium

University of Denver will build a large football and athletic stadium between now and the 1925 football season, at a cost of $275,000, according to an announcement made by Chancellor H. R. Harper. The stadium will have a seating capacity of 38,000 persons. The money will be raised by bond issue authorized by the athletic council of the university. A stadium committee has been appointed, with orders to select a site as soon as possible and proceed with plans, awarding of contract and construction.

"Babe" Ruth has been in the major leagues ten years.

The Tialteann games will be held in Dublin again in 1928.

Harvard's baseball schedule consists of 25 games, April 11 to June 20.

The New York Canoe club, the first in the United States, was organized in 1870.

The Philadelphia Skating club, the first in the United States, was founded just 75 years ago.

In four years the University of Chicago football team has lost only two games out of 18 played.

Nick Allen, manager of the St. Paul American association team in 1924, has signed a contract for this year.

Princeton and Yale have met 49 times in gridiron contests. It is the oldest football rivalry in America.

Athlon college of Michigan will shortly begin construction of a $175,000 gymnasium, to be ready by next September.

Few players in the majors use the head-first slide because of its great danger. Frisch, of the Giants, is an exception.

Wade Killefer, manager of the Seattle club has signed a new second baseman. He is Bert Wallis, a Seattle high school boy.

George Makin, third baseman, has been purchased from the Syracuse club of the International league by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The annual West Point Cadets vs. Notre Dame football match is announced for the Yankees' stadium, New York city, October 17, 1925.

Playing a round of golf recently, Babe Ruth was accredited with a drive of 352 yards long, the longest on record at the Rancho club of Los Angeles.

George Sutton, the marvelous "handless" billiard player, is showing his proficiency by playing the three-cushion game with marked success.

"Choppy" Rhodes is the star of this year's Nebraska team. He's a fast running, hard-to-tackle halfback. He also dabbles in basket ball and track.

Barney Burch, owner of the Omaha Western league club, has regained possession of Outfielder Frank Osborne, buying him outright from the Seattle club.

John Roser, outfielder of the Worcester Eastern league, who hit 330 last season, including 38 home runs, has been sold to the Baltimore International.

John F. (Chick) Meehan, who recently resigned as coach of the Syracuse university eleven, has been signed to coach the New York university football team.

Portland, Ore., charges $20 for season tickets to play on the municipal golf courses. The city has three courses and the purchaser must name the course he intends to play over.

Despite the fact that the New York Yankees are looking right and left for a shortstop, Everett Scott will probably continue his consecutive game record when the season opens.

H. A. Sanders, who played ball with the Mexico club in the West Texas league last season, and C. W. Johnson, semi-pro from Denver, have been signed to pitch for the Los Angeles club this year.

University of Oklahoma's memorial stadium is to cost $1,000,000 and include a double-decked steel grandstand to seat 43,000. A new gymnasium is also talked of and legislative assistance will be sought.

Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants will send his pitchers and catchers to Sarasota, Fla., on February 20, ten days before the main squad. This has been McGraw's program for the past two years.

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a table-spoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advt.

First Sacker Muffs His Lonely Chance

Art Hofman subbed for Frank Chance at first base for the Cubs in a game played June 24, 1910. The only chance Art had at first he muffed. It was a dull day and Art grew stiff waiting for something to do. Hofman's record isn't in the record book, but he didn't have a putout at first in a nine-inning contest.

McCauley of the Washington club, in 1891, and Guy Hecker, playing first for the Louisville club on October 6, 1887, are the only players besides Hofman who didn't have a putout at first base.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advt.

DO YOU KNOW WHY --- It All Depends Which Word You Emphasize?

RACE ON BETWEEN FRISCH AND HORNSBY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 9.—Frankie Frisch, captain of the New York Giants, and Rogers Hornsby, star hitter of the St. Louis Cardinals, are expected to be the leading rivals for the National League's prize for the most valuable player this season.

Dazzy Vance, the star Brooklyn pitcher, won the prize last year and he will be eligible again this year, as the National League does not bar a winner from future consideration as is done in the American League. Unless he upsets the form that has prevailed in recent years, Vance will not have as good a year this year as he did in 1924.

Frisch and Hornsby were the runners up in the voting last year and there is no doubt that they are the outstanding players in the league. While everyone concedes their individual brilliance, smart baseball men dispute that they are as valuable to their teams as some other less brilliant players.

Frisch was out of the game during the most critical part of the pennant race last fall and the Giants didn't seem to miss him. McGraw has the best infield reserves in the major leagues and that perhaps accounts for it. Hornsby also was out of the game for a long while a year ago and the Cards got along almost as well without him.

SON OF W. H. GRUENHAGEN OF BRAINERD, SPEEDY TRACK RUNNER

William (Bill) Gruenhagen, St. Paul boy, is the speediest sprinter at the University of Minnesota.

He established that honor at the two 50-yard races staged by Track Coach Sherman Finger at the University of Minnesota track Friday, with Gruenhagen, Catherwood, Rook and Schutte as the four sprinters.

In the first race Gruenhagen and Schutte were neck and neck for half of the distance, and then Gruenhagen pulled ahead. Rook was third and Catherwood fourth.

In the second race Schutte got away in the lead and held it until Gruenhagen nosed him out, with Catherwood and Rook tied. The time for the first race was 5:3, and for the second 5:3 1-5.

Saturday came the all-university track meet, in which it is expected many athletes will compete. The meet is open to all except members of the track team who have made their letters, those being barred.

Coach Finger was highly enthused over Gruenhagen's showing. It is the first time that the St. Paul sprinter has done much at the short distances, his chief difficulty being in making a quick getaway. His best distance has been the 220, but he is developing into a classy 100-yard man.

Finger hopes that Gruenhagen will be a great point winner this spring in the century and 220 dashes. He hopes that he will do the 220 in 21 3-5.—St. Paul Daily News.

PINE RIVER WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Pine River won the district championship at the tournament held at Aitkin Friday and Saturday, defeating the strong Crosby-Interton team in the decisive battle of the contest, by a score of 15 to 10.

On next Friday and Saturday Pine River will represent this district in the regional tournament to be held Alexandria.

Large and Small Counties

San Bernardino county, California, is the largest in the United States, with an area of 20,175 square miles, and Bristol county, Rhode Island, with an area of 24 square miles, is the smallest.

National Party Committees

The Democratic convention of 1848 was the first to appoint a national committee, but the committee's value was not recognized until after the Civil war.

With the Oldtimers

(By United Press)
Detroit, March 9.—Charley Bennett, who was a big league catcher back in 1887, is one of the familiar figures around the Detroit ball park. He lost both legs several years ago in an automobile accident. He is engaged in the china business and is doing well.

BALL EXPENSE MORE THAN FANS FIGURE

Clubs Pay Out Large Sums for Spheres.

"Aw, let the kid have it." is a cry frequently heard at the professional baseball parks when a ball flies out of the playing space and a scramble for it begins.

Letting the fans have the vagrant balls, however, is expensive. At first glance, the fan does not consider that each sphere costs money.

Although a baseball looks simple, the experimenter is sure to find it rather complicated after he makes the division into two equal parts.

It has undergone numerous experiments. First it had a cork center, then came the rubber core, later a combination of each, with all sorts of yarn wrapped around.

A ball must be absolutely round, be able to stand up under terrific knocks, have liveliness, and many other qualities are considered vital in the manufacture.

But to the professional player a ball is nothing. He will throw it into the bleachers at the slightest provocation or calmly foul it over the fence in batting practice.

Last season, the National league used 43,224 balls. Each retails around $2. Assuming that $2 is the retail price, the total expense would be $86,448. The clubs obtain their supplies for a figure under $2, but the outlay is considerable.

Paavo Nurmi Is Winner

Paavo Nurmi, the speedy Finnish runner, has been quite consistent in smashing records since his arrival in this country.

Borzo, the Wolfhound

The original name of the Russian wolfhound was Borzoi, meaning swift, light and agile.

Two St. Louis Bells No Longer Bother

Scorers in the National league will not be bothered with the two Bells of the St. Louis Cardinals, as they have released Herman, a big right-handed pitcher, to Milwaukee. Bell gained fame last year with the Cardinals by pitching a double-header against the Boston Braves on July 19 and winning both games. The unusual part of the Bell situation is that while Herman goes to Milwaukee, Lester comes to the Cardinals from the Brewers.

Money, Not Fights, Is Big Problem for Boxer

The days of the fighting champions are about over. Harry Greb is the only titleholder who takes on challengers and dubs regardless of the purses.

Money is the dominating influence with the present-day champions rather than fight. Once a fighter wins a championship he puts it in camphor balls and takes on nothing but no-decision affairs.

Dempsey refuses to fight indoors because there is no chance for a big gate. Benny Leonard takes much the same attitude. Instead of fighting, the two are uplifting the stage and films.

Walker refuses to fight and has no standing in New York state, one of the few places where real championship bouts can be staged.

Abe Goldstein, after dodging the banian customers for nearly a year, dropped his title the first time out.

Denver to Build Stadium

University of Denver will build a large football and athletic stadium between now and the 1925 football season, at a cost of $275,000, according to an announcement made by Chancellor H. R. Harper. The stadium will have a seating capacity of 38,000 persons. The money will be raised by bond issue authorized by the athletic council of the university. A stadium committee has been appointed, with orders to select a site as soon as possible and proceed with plans, awarding of contract and construction.

Emmet Wins Skate Race

Photograph shows Leon Emmet of the University of Wisconsin, winner of the intercollegiate skating race recently run on Placid lake, New York.

Pitched Only No-Hit Game

How many fans know that the only no-hit game in the American league last season was credited to Walter Johnson of the Washington American league champions and the only one-hit game in the major leagues in 1924 was also credited to the Washington pitcher? His no-hit game was pitched against St. Louis and went only seven innings.

Literary Difference

Jud Tunkins says the difference between the old drama and the new is that Shakespeare said things ordinary people couldn't think of, while the modern author says what everybody suspects, but is too polite to mention.

Prepare Things at Night

Getting the children off to school is easier on the whole family if their things are in order the night before, says a woman household writer.

Sporting Squibs

"Babe" Ruth has been in the major leagues ten years.

The Tialteann games will be held in Dublin again in 1928.

Harvard's baseball schedule consists of 25 games, April 11 to June 20.

The New York Canoe club, the first in the United States, was organized in 1870.

The Philadelphia Skating club, the first in the United States, was founded just 75 years ago.

In four years the University of Chicago football team has lost only two games out of 18 played.

Nick Allen, manager of the St. Paul American association team in 1924, has signed a contract for this year.

Princeton and Yale have met 49 times in gridiron contests. It is the oldest football rivalry in America.

Albion college of Michigan will shortly begin construction of a $175,000 gymnasium, to be ready by next September.

Few players in the majors use the head-first slide because of its great danger. Frisch, of the Giants, is an exception.

Wade Killefer, manager of the Seattle club has signed a new second baseman. He is Bert Wallis, a Seattle high school boy.

George Makin, third baseman, has been purchased from the Syracuse club of the International league by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The annual West Point Cadets vs. Notre Dame football match is announced for the Yankees' stadium, New York city, October 17, 1925.

Playing a round of golf recently, Babe Ruth was accredited with a drive of 352 yards long, the longest on record at the Rancho club of Los Angeles.

George Sutton, the marvelous "handless" baltimore billiard player, is showing his proficiency by playing the three-cushion game with marked success.

"Choppy" Rhodes is the star of this year's Nebraska team. He's a fast runner, hard-to-tackle halfback. He also dabbles in basket ball and track.

Barney Burch, owner of the Omaha Western league club, has regained possession of outfielder Frank Osborne, buying him outright from the Seattle club.

John Roser, outfielder of the Worcester Eastern league, who hit .320 last season, including 38 home runs, has been sold to the Baltimore Internationals.

John F. (Chick) Meehan, who recently resigned as coach of the Syracuse university eleven, has been signed to coach the New York university football team.

Portland, Ore., charges $20 for season tickets to play on the municipal golf courses. The city has three courses and the purchaser must name the course he intends to play over.

Despite the fact that the New York Yankees are looking right and left for a shortstop, Everett Scott will probably continue his consecutive game record when the season opens.

H. A. Sanders, who played ball with the Mexico club in the West Texas league last season, and C. W. Johnson, semi-pro from Denver, have been signed to pitch for the Los Angeles club this year.

University of Oklahoma's memorial stadium is to cost $1,000,000 and include a double-decked steel grandstand to seat 43,000. A new gymnasium is also talked of and legislative assistance will be sought.

Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants will send his pitchers and catchers to Sarasota, Fla., on February 20, ten days before the main squad. This has been McGraw's program for the past two years.

First Sacker Muffs His Lonely Chance

Art Hofman subbed for Frank Chance at first base for the Cubs in a game played June 24, 1910. The only chance Art had at first he muffed. It was a dull day and Art grew stiff waiting for something to do. Hofman's record isn't in the record book, but he didn't have a putout at first in a nine-inning contest.

McCauley of the Washington club, in 1891, and Guy Hecker, playing first for the Louisville club on October 6, 1887, are the only players besides Hofman who didn't have a putout at first base.

Numbers in Heredity

IF RHEUMATIC

BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advt.

LADIES! DARKEN

YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advt.
